Stephanie Runkle reviewed the process leading up to having companies come in and present their comments on the list of repairs/updates that a building committee has compiled.

Jim Fink and Paul Borsheim with Barton Construction discussed the list of items provided to them and concluded it would be best if they put a proposal together to address plumbing, electrical and abatement issues. They highly recommend doing a Code study. Their HVAC, plumber and electrician did a walk-through of the building. Borsheim explained when they look at the building a lot of the systems are "old and tired" and part of the process would be determining what the county's priorities are or need to be. Barton Construction will put dollar amounts to remedying each issue.

Dave Mooney, Solid Waste, notified Supervisors that the Solid Waste Comprehensive Plan, done every 5 years, is due for by end of the 2023. The plan is an overview of solid waste removal for Allamakee County.
